

Merchants Plan Booster Meeting

Whiteside Suggests Job
Placement for After The War

Methods to be employed and agencies through which retailers can work to combat inflation will be discussed at a booster meeting to be held by the Narberth Business Council on November 10 at the Arcadia Restaurant.

Plans for the meeting were discussed Tuesday night when Narberth merchants met to outline the program. Walter Case, president of the Council, presided.

As part of the November 10 program the Council expects to obtain an illustrated lecture entitled "Retailer Fights Inflation."

On Tuesday night J. J. Whiteside asked the Council to sponsor a movement for assistance and job placement for returning soldiers after the war. He said there were 282 boys from Narberth in the armed forces and there should be some agency to act as clearing house to find them employment when they returned.

Also under discussion was the subject of decorating the business center at Christmas time. By motion decision was postponed until a later meeting.

Tuesday night's meeting was held in the Green Room at the Arcadia Restaurant.

New School Term For Magistrates

Squires from Delaware
And Chester Counties
Will Be Invited

Magistrates throughout a tri-county area will be invited to participate this year in the Montgomery County Justice of the Peace Association school which will open in Norristown November 7.

Calling forward a program they initiated last year the school for the instruction of the minor judiciary will deal this year with civil action and civil law.

Announcement that the school would be expanded this year to include all those magistrates of Delaware and Chester counties, as well as Montgomery, was made by Walter B. Lowmes, Jr., Ardmore, president of the Association.

The instructor at the Association's school will be Raymond B. Pearlstone, Norristown attorney and solicitor of the organization. Afternoon sessions from 2 to 5 p. m. will be held in Court Room "D" Court House, Norristown, at the invitation of the Montgomery County commissioners.

At the meeting of the Association Tuesday night at Lakeside Inn, Limerick, Joseph Prince, solicitor of the Montgomery County controller's office, Norristown, gave a report originating from the good government department at State College. The report referred to the Montgomery County association as one of the most progressive in the State. It cited the annual school for magistrates as one of its most progressive features.

Especially the report referred to the greater degree of cooperation that existed between county magistrates and the office of the controller, which is held by Dr. Frank K. Barker, Gladwyne.

At the meeting a committee was appointed by Magistrate Lowmes to investigate the possibilities of establishing a central county constable's office at Norristown. Magistrate Lowmes said that war had depleted the ranks of the constables and a central office would solve problems of transportation and at the same time make efficient constable service available to all the county justices of the peace.

May Equalize Assessments In Our Business District

A plan that is expected to result in an equalization of assessments in the business district of Narberth was approved Monday night by the Borough Council.

The plan calls for the professional appraisal of six or more properties that are out of line with the prevailing level of assessments. Complaints of inequalities in assessments in the business section have been prevalent for some time.

At the proposal of Henry P. Carr, chairman of the finance committee, councilmen have authorized the expenditure of not more than $400 to have the properties appraised. Narberth School Board is expected to concur in the action and appropriate the same amount.

Assessments on the properties are

To Raise Wage of Boro Laborers

Plan, However, Must Await Federal Approval

Laborers working in the Borough will get a wage adjustment to meet increased living costs as soon as possible.

Members of the Narberth Council reached this decision at their monthly meeting Monday night.

Roland Fleer, president of the Council, presided.

The report and recommendation for the increase was made by W. A. Fox, chairman of the highway and sewer committee.

The increase anticipated is six cents an hour.

Fox stated that the National War Labor Board has announced that no increase or decrease in wages can be authorized until the increases or decreases have been submitted and approved by the Board.

This stipulation, it was pointed out, does not pertain to changes in wages which were made prior to October 3.

Members of the Borough Council since the beginning of the war and the gradual increase of prices have maintained a policy of adjusting wages of the Borough employees to increased costs of living.

Fibre Container Will Salvage 135,000 Tons of Metal

E. E. Clark, Narberth, introduced this week the first fibre container for oil to be seen in this part of the county.

As area manager for the Macmillan Petroleum Corporation of California, Clark presented the first container to George R. Conover, Coordinator of the Philadelphia Newspaper United Scrap Metal Drive.

Clark explained that the new container will divert to war use about 135,000 tons of metal ordinarily used by the petroleum industry in the distribution of oil to motorists.

The California firm has perfected the "tinless" can from paper processed from surplus farm products and has offered the rights to the new container to the entire industry without profit.

Approve Proposal To Cut Weeds

The recommendation for cutting weeds at the southwest corner of Essex and Elmwood av., was passed at the Borough Council meeting Monday night.

It was reported that the prompt work on the new inlet to relieve storm and water drainage at Shady lane and Wynnedale rd. proved successful after the last rain storm.

Glad Hander to Aid Community Spirit

Dr. Bieber Tells Rotarians It Would Guide Newcomers

Even a professional, the speaker would do much to stimulate the neighborly spirit of the Bala-Cynwyd communities, according to the Rev. Herbert W. Bieber, D. D., who spoke at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club.

The speaker, who is pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, was introduced by Conrad Albrecht, chairman of the day.

Dr. Bieber told them of a remark he had heard from a man who said that genuine community spirit was not in evidence until one reached Wayne on the Main Line. He told of a business group in Wilkes Barre that had employed a professional glad hander to make the acquaintance of every new resident. It was this woman's duty he said to introduce the new resident to the pastor of the church she attended, acquaint her with any local regulations which would effect the management of her household and give her some idea of the local geography.

Dr. Bieber is one of the charter members of the Rotary Club.

Time Extended to Remove Fire Hazard

Approval of the recommendation to give Charles Jenkins, builder, until July, 1943, to vacate the barn at the rear of 102 Conway av., which he uses for a shop, was given at Borough Council meeting Monday night.

William P. Davies, chairman of the property committee, reported that the barn was a serious fire hazard to the community, and must come down at the first opportune moment.

In consideration for Mr. Jenkins, who has been in business in Narberth for over 35 years, he suggested the extension of the notice to July 1943.

Services in Chicago For W. G. Tebbens

Funeral services are being held in Chicago for Willie G. Tebbens, 56, who died suddenly early Monday morning at his home, 402 Antwyn rd., Merion.

Lower Merion police could find no reason why Tebbens took his life with a .32-calibre revolver.

Services were held Tuesday night at the Quinby Undertaking Parlor in Philadelphia and Wednesday the body was sent to Chicago, where Tebbens was born.

Tebbens is survived by his wife, Cell; a son, Willie G. Jr.; and a daughter, Jeanne.

Women Club Members Plan War Bond Day

November 10 has been designated by the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs as a day for raising the sale of war bonds and stamps.

Mrs. Florence B. Reder, chairman of the citizenship committee of the Federation, is directing the drive.

"I know that you are hearing this cry on all sides," declared Mrs. Reder, "but it is a cry for help. The very real help to our armed forces. They can't fight this war alone and they cannot quit on us no matter how tired they become."

Given Silver Wings

Second Lieutenant Curtis G. Green, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis G. Green of Lakeview Apartments, Wynwood rd., Narberth, was a student officer in the pilot class graduated from the advanced twin-engine Columbus Army Flying School on Oct. 9. He was transferred at graduation to the Army Air Forces, receiving the coveted silver wings of a flying officer.

Lieutenant Green entered pilot training on Nov. 15, 1941 at Jackson, Miss., and attended the school at Greenville, Miss., before being transferred to the Columbus Air Base for his final stage of training.

Lower Merion Odds On Favorite In 15th Game With Haverford High

A couple weeks ago local football fans were looking forward to the 15th annual meeting of Lower Merion and Haverford High, figuring it would be one of three games of the year. At that time it looked as if the contest would have a definite bearing on the Suburban Big Six race, but events since have changed the picture completely.

When Lower Merion invades the Brookline gridiron Saturday it will be an odds on favorite to crush the Fords. The situation appears to be almost the same as last year when the Maroon prevailed, 33-0. The suspicion that Lower Merion

Sportsmen to Use High School Range Will Conduct Classes On Safe Handling Of Firearms

Once more the Lower Merion High School has granted permission to the rifle team of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club to use the High School's rifle range for indoor shooting during the Fall, Winter and Spring.

At the recent meeting of the board of directors of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club, held in the American Legion Hall in Narberth, John Zentgraf, Ardmore, chairman of the Club's small bore committee, and Lloyd DuBois, Merion, outlined plans for the coming rifle and pistol season. Monday evening will be the Club's regular rifle practice night.

In addition to the regular club schedule, a series of classes will be conducted under the sponsorship of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club in its program to teach the principles of "Safe Handling of Firearms" to persons who are not familiar with the use of pistols, rifles and shotguns.

At the recent board meeting of the Club, Raymond Trudgeon, Overbrook Hills, and George Floyd, Narberth, told members present that they were making provision for carrying the Club through its regular Fall and Winter trap shooting program.

Rehabilitation For Draftees

Legion to Help Men
Become Physically
Fit

The American Legion of Ardmore has taken the initiative in a movement to rehabilitate men who have been turned down by local draft boards because of physical conditions.

A committee appointed by the Bullock-Sanderson Post will obtain three pledges: one from anyone who would like to help financially in sponsoring the movement; two, from doctors and dentists who are willing to contribute professional services and three, from men who, providing they are rehabilitated, will submit to draft board reclassification and offer their services for enlistment.

H. Sibley Lea, Ardmore, is chairman of the committee. Commander of the Post is H. M. Harman. Dr. Douglas MacFarlan, member of the Post, is helping to plan the rehabilitation program.

The movement has received the endorsement of the Montgomery County Council of Defense.

Service Flag Hung At Autocar Company

An unusually large service flag was recently hung over the main entrance to the Autocar factory on Lancaster pike in Ardmore. It contains, in its central star, the figure "374" which was the number of Autocar employees in the Armed Services as of September.

So many men are leaving the Autocar ranks every week that it is the plan of the company to change the figure on their service flag once a month in the future so as to be sure to honor all Autocar men all the time.

Promoted to Corporal

Promotion of Frederick C. Hansell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Hansell, 929 Montgomery av., Narberth, to the rank of corporal in the U. S. Army Air Corps was announced this week. Hansell enlisted in Philadelphia and is now stationed in Florida.

With several sectors to hear from, the collection to provide funds for Christmas gifts to Narberth's Service Men was reported as having reached more than $1600 and the Committee was hopeful that nearly $2000 would be realized.

This means that there will be an ample sum for the original purpose of purchasing the gifts and also there should be a surplus which can be used to provide a token of appreciation and good-will to those additional men who will leave the Borough in the future for the reception camps.

As OUR TOWN went to press last night a meeting was being held in the Community Building in order to select the various items which the boxes will contain and also to appoint the several Committees which will look after the numerous details involved in the packing and shipment.

There will also be a list committee which will check closely on all the addresses and which will also endeavor to secure the facts from those families which have not as yet reported the whereabouts of their enlisted kin, the purpose being to make sure that none is overlooked.

Next week's OUR TOWN will report the final returns of the collection and also the make-up of the respective committees.

It is also stated that a list of the contributors will be made in a permanent form and it will be kept in the vaults of the National Bank of Narberth as an important record of Narberth's participation in the Second World War.

Those who have not as yet made their contributions are asked to send them without delay to Carl B. Metzger, Jr., fund treasurer, at the Bank.

LOCAL SCHOOLS BUSY ON LETTER CONTEST

The pupils of the Narberth parochial and public schools are reported hard at work in formulating the letters which are to be entered in the contest in connection with the Christmas boxes which will be sent to every Narberth man in the Armed Forces.

The letter which is chosen will result in an award of a $25 War Bond to its author and should it come to pass, in the opinion of the judges, that no letter submitted quite fills the requirements, each participant will receive a war stamp in recognition of his or her interest and endeavor.

The Board of Judges is comprised of Miss Marguerite Campbell, Miss Fanny Loos and Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood and the contest will close on October 10.

What is sought, according to the committee, is a message which will carry the most appropriate sentiments to those in the camps and on the war fronts from the home-towns which they have left and what the community means to convey to the absent men by the gift box which is sent them.

Giles Sworn in as Health Board Member

W. Ralph Giles, 214 Lanthwyn lane, Narberth, has been sworn in to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Nellie P. Hoffman resigning member of the Board of Health, according to the report of George O. Schroder, chairman of the water, light and health committee, at the Borough Council meeting Monday night.

Mr. Schroder reported that the petition submitted by Stirling Chain for the installation of lights on Wynnedale rd. would be kept on file until the necessary materials are available. The Philadelphia Electric Company cannot do this work until after the war.

As a result Coach Mattis has been working overtime this week trying to keep the Maroon from being overconfident. "Haverford is always dangerous. They're much

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKinn

TEXAS is the biggest state in our union, being one-twelfth the size of the United States. But that isn't the Lone Star State's only claim to fame by any means. Shine Phillips tells us in "Big Spring." No matter what you are talking about, the author says, if a Texan's around he'll say that Texas has got the biggest or the tallest or the worst or the best of whatever it is. And he'll be pretty near right too.

SHINE PHILLIPS

death and the mule at the end of the team died of sunstroke simultaneously!

Another unique feature about Texas is loco weed, the qualities of which have eluded scientific analysis for years. Says Mr. Phillips: "If a horse or cow happens to get a mouthful of it, they soon become addicts, and the things they do, and the way they act after they get a shot of this stuff never has been seen anywhere else unless possibly at a convention of businessmen." Mr. Phillips even brags about the Texas prairie fires. We have the biggest, hottest, wildest, most destructive prairie fires here ever held on earth, he says proudly.

"Big Spring" is the name of a West Texas town—"the biggest, little town in the U. S. A.," according to its inhabitants, and Shine Phillips' book of this title is told as a series of reminiscences by the local druggist, who had lived there since the days when druggists only sold drugs, when doctors rode horseback to get to their patients because horse and buggy was too slow, and when every house had a hitching post in front of it.

Women didn't use cosmetics like they do now, though occasionally a blushing damsel would come into the store and ask for ten cents' worth of prepared chalk "with just a small tint of pink, please." . . . And sometimes, Mr. Phillips says, "a girl would put a drop of vanilla flavoring behind her ear and she would smell good enough to eat."

The cowboys liked their steaks well done in those days. "We didn't know it was to kill the bacteria but we knew it had to be cooked through to be safe." Once a cowboy ordered a steak and when it came on it was rare. He called over the widow who ran the restaurant and said, "Ma'am, I've seen cows get well that was hurt worse than this one."

One aspect of American life that has been firmly implanted in the mind of W. L. White's adopted daughter, Margaret (he wrote about her a couple of years ago in "Journey for Margaret"), is that everybody in the United States always gets his or her picture in the papers. When the five-year-old child was brought to this country from bomb-torn England, she was photographed on her arrival. When Life Magazine interviewed Mr. White some months back, she again saw her pictures in the papers. When she went to Emporia, Kansas, to visit her grandpa (William Allen White) she saw both grandpa's and her own picture in the papers once more. And with the publication of her daddy's new book, "They Were Expendable," which the Book-of-the-Month Club is distributing far and wide, she—you guessed it—saw her foster father's picture in the paper still again.

HIGH NOTES

by DAVID MALICKSON
Class of 1945 — Lower Merion High School

As the air raid alarm pierced the stillness of L. M. on Tuesday, October 6, the students were attending their second period class. Quickly and quietly they assembled at the posts to which they were assigned. Here they remained until the all clear was sounded about ten minutes later.

Lower Merion has added La Crosse to its extra-curricular activities. Under the skillful direction of Miss Ramboe and Clive Knowles, manager, the team hopes to play many private schools early in the spring. The team holds its practices every day after school and will do so until the weather becomes unfavorable.

Recently Don Palmer and Mr. Hutton were elected president and sponsor, respectively, of the Junior Class. Dick Whittings was elected vice-president of the class; Peggy Heebnes secretary; and Bob Healy treasurer.

The Merionite Staff published the first school paper of the year on October 7. Under the careful direction of Charles McCarthy, editor, the newspaper shows a great deal of improvement over the previous year's.

Texas Tommy, cowboy entertainer and his wonder horse, Baby Doll, brought with them to Lower Merion a truly great show on October 7. The students were amazed at their skill! With a bull whip Texas Tommy cut off pieces of paper behind his own ear, and kept three lariats going at once. He had his horse ring a bell and untie a handkerchief from its hind leg, with its mouth.

Halloween will soon be here and with it, it will bring Lower Merion's first big dance of the year. This Barn Dance, so named because the lads will dress as farmers and the lassies as farmerettes, will be held on Saturday, October 17, 9:00 p.m. in Lower Merion Senior High. Music will be furnished by Jackie Field's orchestra and refreshments will be served.

On October 9 the Gas Unit of the Council of Defense presented a very interesting program on the Pennypacker Field. They demonstrated how the Gas Unit would go into operation in the event of an enemy gas attack. The program was under the direction of Mr. Walter J. Beaton, field officer; Dr. T. O. Jones, gas identification officer; officer J. McMahon, gas police; Dr. H. C. Eamshaw, gas medical officer; Mr. E. H. Snow, bus loader; Dr. Marshall Gates; air raid warden Dr. Edward Haenisch, was the announcer.

The girls' Hi-Y, whose president is Gloria Brown, is entertaining different groups of sophomore girls at weekly teas. These teas enable the Hi-Y members to become acquainted with the new girls of the class. The committee chairmen for these teas are: Jean Simpson, in charge of refreshments; Barbara Floyd, in charge of entertainment; and Dorothy Baker, in charge of invitations.

News of BALA-CYNWYD Junior High

by JANE HANSCOM and FLORENCE HICKMAN

The students of Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School are participating in a National Fire Prevention Week from October 4 to 10. They urge the citizens of Lower Merion Township to do everything they possibly can to prevent fires because now every fire helps the Axis. A program will be presented on October 15 to aid the campaign, by the 9T English class. The play will be acted entirely by students and will be coached by Miss Edith Wilson.

Elaine Myralius will play the part of the judge; David Ezickson that of the District Attorney; Camillo Volpi, Court Officer; Joan Potter, Counsel for the defense; Foster Brown, Clerk of the court; and the jurymen are to be: John Kane, Elizabeth Hogeson, Alice Lachman, Blair Wetherald, Bill Oakes, Janet Bernstein, Molly Patrick, Bill Piske, Perry Scott, Charles Herbruck, Evans Hunt and Bob Kane.

The defendants, or eleven major causes of fire are: kerosene, Peter Martin; cigarette, Bob Allen; match, Tom Toohill; electricity, Eleanor Canby; rubbish, Jack Middleton; gas, Susan Stellwagon; defective chimney, Barbara Boardman; gasoline, Jean McHenry; lightning, Ed Minshall; bonfires, George Compton; spontaneous combustion, Nancy Vaden.

The Bala-Cynwyd Knights were beaten on Friday, October 9, by the shutout score of 6-0 in a home game with Upper Darby. The classes were shortened during the school day so that the students might be dismissed in time for the game. They were disappointed, however, when U. D. made a touchdown during the second quarter. The midget home team played well, but could never quite make the needed points.

LET HIM OVERSLEEP!
WHY SHOULD YOU HAVE TO WAKE HIM UP?

Fight War Nerves with NATURE'S WEAPONS!

WAR workers get tired — sleep right through the alarm clock, sometimes. You have a long day ahead, too! It's extra effort to get up first and get your war worker off to a good start so he won't be late to the plant. But it's one thing you can do for Uncle Sam. Don't let your own work and war nerves keep you from doing it. That's just what Hitler and his propagandists would like to see.

But you can fight these war nerves. Follow Nature's own rules of good health. Take time for exercise in the fresh air. Observe proper nutrition rules. And, above all, drink plenty of milk.

Sealtaste Milk contains several times as much calcium as any other common food — in readily assimilable form. This all-important mineral regulates the irritability of tissue and relaxes muscles. Milk also brings you many other minerals, vitamins and food essentials that promote vigorous health. It is Nature's most nearly perfect food.

Government nutritionists recommend a quart of milk daily for each child and at least a pint for every adult.

An easy way to give your family their daily requirement is by serving Tastier Sealtaste Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. Order it from your Sealtaste milkman, your neighborhood store, or phone us. Ask for the Sealtaste Food Adviser when you call.

Lower Merion Odds

stronger than that Cheltenham game indicated," he warned yesterday. "Don't forget the underdog always has the advantage in a traditional game such as this one."

Although bitterly disappointed by the showing of his team at Cheltenham, Bill Stinson, Haverford's hopeful of the Fords giving a close game. Just how much, he said, may depend upon each action, if any, seen by Valerio, fullback, and Kirk, halfback. They were hurt in the Valley Forge game and did not play last week. Co-captain Dan Phipps, tackle, also was on the sidelines, being down in his leg.

Haverford has beaten Lower Merion only twice in 14 previous years, a fact that hasn't helped the team on the Brookline campaign.

DeFelice, showing a wary leg injury that kept him inactive earlier in the season, L. M. to its most decisive over Ayington in their long rivalry. He tallied three touchdowns or extra points to account for the Maroon's points.

DeFelice scored his first six on a short plunge following a 4-yard drive in the second quarter, little Howard skipping five yards around cap a 66-yard drive. Howard's automatic safety that returned Ray Uccelletti, Abington back, stepped over into the end while attempting to punt.

Uccelletti, provided Lower Merion with an 8-6 halftime lead. The 3,000 fans were unprepared for the majestic matter in the Maroon overwhelmed the Fords in the second half. The Fords simply battered the Abington defenses to smithereens and scored three touchdowns in the quarter and two more in the third.

DeFelice touched off the second quarter when he slashed and raced 39 yards for a touchdown on the third half. Soon afterward, Howard marched 66 yards and drove over from the end of the period for a forward-lateral pass to Whiting to Heinzel, racing 37 yards for the touchdown.

Stinson circled end of the line for a touchdown that came on a 50-yard drive early in the third quarter. Another sub, Tony, tossed a 59-yard pass to Phil Basile for the final tally.

Haverford never had a chance to score. Cheltenham, The Fords managed to stave off a Panther attack with a grim goal line stand in the first period, but the home team came back with a 55-yard second period advance that sent Jack Dougherty, a nimble halfback, across with a touchdown that gave Cheltenham a 7-0 halftime lead. Reeves, Cheltenham fullback, sparked the Panthers' second onslaught, getting touchdowns in short plunges after successive marches in the third and fourth periods, respectively. Ted Williams tied the other Cheltenham quarter late in the third quarter after a blocked kick paved the way.

Haverford made only one real play—a dazzling march of 70 yards—sparked by co-captain Alfie Cheltenham in the fourth quarter—but Cheltenham turned it aside with a station on the eight yard line.

CALLING THE TURN

There's only one way to explain Lower Merion's one-sided victory over Abington and Haverford's rout at the hands of Cheltenham. Lower Merion has a much stronger team than even the most optimistic of us believed and Abington and Haverford, especially the latter, have been sadly over-rated.

True, Haverford had two of its best backs on the injury list and co-captain and tackle Dan Phipps was ineligible Saturday but from all accounts Cheltenham would have prevailed even had the Fords stars been in the lineup. The weakness of Haverford's reserves was never so evident as in this contest. Yet before the season started it looked as if the Fords might have something. They were rated among the likely top three by rival coaches in the Big Six.

Originally we assumed for various reasons that Abington wasn't up to its usual par, but when the Ghosts defeated Haverford we figured we'd had the wool put over our eyes, that the Ghosts probably were as good as ever. Now it appears that our original hunch on Abington was correct while the general high rating given Haverford was all wrong.

To be brutally frank, we don't believe any team other than L. M. in the Big Six rates much better than mediocre. Upper Darby certainly can't be too strong, having won only one game in three starts. Cheltenham didn't show much until it met Haverford and is hardly an A-1 eleven. Radnor is woefully weak. Abington is decidedly weaker and Haverford is no better than last year, probably weaker.

Lower Merion, just beginning to feel its oats, is definitely stronger and should be able to waltz through the above competition without ever having to go all the way out. The Maroon is so gifted in talent that it should be able to overpower all its rivals on the strength of its reserves alone. Overconfidence will be L. M.'s main foe from here in. And Coach Mattis will take care of that.

HOW STRONG ARE CATS?

Much to the surprise of most of us, Villanova College was knocked off, 20-13, by the Manhattan Beach Coast Guard eleven in the Wildcats' belated opener last Saturday night at Shibe Park.

The Coast Guard came here with none of the great ballyhoo that surrounds other service teams. They had many former college and semi-pro stars in their lineup and were quite a formidable opponent, but little had been heard about the team until it took the field.

Everything considered, Clipper Smith, Villanova coach, was pleased by the grand battle put up by his Wildcats. "I'm certainly glad we opened with such a strong team," he said. "We learned a lot from the game."

According to Clipper, Pug Vaughn, Coast Guard halfback who was a star at Tennessee, was the main spring of one of the best passing combinations he's seen in his seven years as coach at Villanova. "Vaughn's ability to fake defenders out of position and then toss a strike in the opposite direction was reminiscent of Sammy Baugh at his best. He also had exceptional receivers. It's unfortunate the Coast Guard started late. It prevented them from getting a schedule which would have proved their real strength."

Smith stressed pass defense in this week's practices in preparation for Friday's night game with Florida at Shibe Park. Florida is undefeated and scored quite an upset by beating Auburn, 7-0, last week. The Gators are a real test. The game should give us a fairly good idea as to how strong the Wildcats really are.

HAVERFORD ROLLING

Coach Roy Randall at Haverford evidently has one of the better elevens in the small college class. The Main Liners crushed Allegheny, 33-0, in their opener and then made their debut before the home folks by crushing Susquehanna, 27-6, last Saturday.

Haverford entertains Drexel Tech on Walton Field this week and should have no difficulty chalking up victory No. 3 as the Dragons appear to be below par. They were beaten by Delaware and Juniata in their two starts.
